MACDONALD UNDER FIRE

Quizzing of the State's Alienist Will Be Continued on Monday.

WHITE PLAINS, July 5.—For eight hours to-day Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald, the alienist, was under cross-examination by Clarence J. Shearn, chief counsel for Harry K. Thaw in his effort to get himself released from the Matteawan asylum. When Supreme Court Justice Keogh adjourned court at 5:20 in the afternoon Mr. Shearn said he was not yet through with the witness. So far Dr. Mac Donald has been on the witness stand more than sixteen hours.

In answer to a question put by Mr. Shearn Dr. MacDonald said that Thaw's showed delusions and exaggerated ego.

While Dr. MacDonald was testifying Mr Jerome stood by the witness box, handing him the different exhibits. At the noon recess Thaw said to a reporter:

"I didn't have any one stand by me while I was testifying and coach me like Dr. MacDonald did." When asked if he was assisting his counsel he replied: "Oh, no. It was a peaceful, pastoral affair in the main, moving quickly and with little to get excited over, but with not a little sharp fielding nevertheless. The Giants knocked Barger out of the box in the Peter J. Eliot, the young assistant secretary and treasurer of the Southern first inning, and the lead they assumed

Three alienists will testify for Thaw. Dr. William A. White, superintendent of the United States Hospital for the Insane, in Washington, believes that Thaw never was insane. He testified on a former occasion that an imaginary person, "H. K. T." the subject of one of William T. Jerome's hypothetical questions, might be insane if all the evidence in the case was true, but that Thaw is a sane man. The second alienist to testify for Thew will be Dr. Adolph Mayer, professor of psychiatry in Johns Hopkins University. Justice Reogh at first intended to hold court to-morrow, but he announced today that he would adjourn the hearing until Monday morning.

It has been decided that counsel on each side will submit briefs at the conclusion of the hearings, and this probably means that Justice Reogh will not decide Thaw's fate until after his sumper this afternoon by winning one of th hardest fought games ever played in the hardest fought games ever played in the capital: final count, 6 to 5. The combat was not decided until the sixteenth in-ning, when Jack Warhop showed signs of distress after twirling wonderful ball for more than fourteen innings. The great Walter Johnson was Warhop's rival and the midget outpitched the Kansas cyclone until the final round. Time and again it appeared as if Warhop was doomed, but the little chap tightened up at the right time. With only a couple of days rest Warhop was physically unable to stand the strain, and by bunching three hits in the sixteenth inning the Senators came out on top. Harry Wolverton, leader of the hapless
